COUNTY AGENT IS OFFERING $60 A DAY TO FARMERS

Careful Attention At Seed Corn Selection Is Worth That Amount

By G. C. MUSGROVE

Beginning the 9th of September, demonstrations in the field selection of seed corn will be held in each township. This is the best time to select seed corn, as you can see the entire plant at the time of selection. The man who selects his seed in the field never has poor stands because of poor germination. By selecting your seed corn in this way you can get the earlier, more uniform and the properly shaped ears, and in this manner get the highest yield per acre. Much better results will be obtained by getting it from your own field.

The increase in your yield will make you at least $60 per day by this selection. If someone would offer you a job for $60 per day, you would jump at the offer, so come to this demonstration and find out how to get that high paying job on your farm.

A list of these demonstrations is as follows:

- Tuesday, Sept. 9, 10:30 a. m.—Mr. G. W. McCoy, Virginia-tp.
- Tuesday, Sept. 9, 1:00 p. m.—Mr. James McConnell, Washington-tp.
- Tuesday, Sept. 9, 3:30 p. m.—Mr. E. S. Crawford, Pike-tp, one mile west of West Carlisle.
- Wednesday, Sept. 10, 1:00 p. m.—Mr. Herman Kaser Jefferson-tp.
- Wednesday, Sept. 10, 3:30 p. m.—Mr. William Lapp, New Castle-tp.
- Thursday, Sept. 11, 10:30 a. m.—Mr. M. A. Marshall, Jackson-tp.
- Thursday, Sept. 11, 1:00 p. m.—Mr. John Ricketts, Tuscarawas-tp.
- Friday, Sept. 12, 1:00 p. m.—Mr. Victor Wyler, Lafayette-tp.
- Friday, Sept. 12, 3:30 p. m.—Mr. Clarence Mizer, near Orange school-house.
- Monday, Sept. 15, 1:00 p. m.—Mr. Frank Ulman, Monroe-tp, near Spring Mountain.
- Monday, Sept. 15, 3:30 p. m.—Mr. J. J. Gametsfelder, Tiverton-tp.
- Tuesday, Sept. 16, 3:30 p. m.—Blair Parkhill, Mill Creek-tp, near Mound.
- Wednesday, Sept. 17, 3:30 p. m.—Mr. R. L. McKee, Perry-tp.
- Monday, Sept. 22, 1:00 p. m.—Mr. Charles Zimmer, Franklin-tp near Conesville bridge.
- Monday, Sept. 22, 3:30 p. m.—Mr. Ben Wiggins, Linton-tp near Plainfield.
- Tuesday, Sept. 23, 1:00 p. m.—Mr. W. D. Karr, Keene-tp, near Keene.

Some of the township directors have not reported the place for the demonstration in their township, hence if your township does not appear on this list you will know that your township director has not reported in.

Keep this, so you will know when and where the demonstrations will be.

K. OF P. BAND TO PLAY DURING THE COUNTY FAIR

The Knights of Pythias have organized a band of 24 pieces, which will make its first public appearance fair week, having contracted with the agricultural board to furnish music during the county fair races. The new band of the K. of P.'s expect to have a musical organization of which the city may well feel proud and the first appearance of the band is awaited with much interest.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Declaring that the steadily rising cost of living is a "serious menace" members of the American National Live Stock Association market commission today addressed a letter to President Wilson outlining the program of relief.

The live stock men propose:

1. Placing 200,000,000 acres of public grazing land under federal control to increase meat production.
2. Prompt completion of the department of agriculture's survey covering the cost of meat production from farm to consumer.
3. Enactment of legislation looking to federal control of the meat industry, similar to that proposed in the Kenyon and Kendrick bills now pending.

The letter is signed by live stock men including H. A. Jastro, E. L. Burke, Dwight B. Heard and H. C. Wallace.

All data in the hands of the committee is offered to the president. "We recognize that the steadily mounting cost of living is a most serious menace to our national welfare and largely the cause of industrial discontent," the letter stated.

"As meat and meat products constitute a large per centage of this living cost, we offer for your consideration the following definite suggestions for improvement:

"Prompt action by congress providing for a constructive plan for just and thoroughgoing federal control of the packing industry which shall maintain the efficiency of this greatest of our national industries but shall prevent in the future much misuse of the enormous growing economic and concentrated financial power of the group of five great packers as the investigations of the federal trade commission show have occurred in the past."

SPRAINS ANKLE ON A RIDING DEVICE

Ruth Foster, 10, the daughter of Mrs. Anna Foster, Sycamore-st, had her right ankle painfully injured while playing on the grounds of the Sacred Heart school Thursday.

The little girl was riding on the ocean wave at the time of the accident. An X-ray photo was made of the injury Thursday by Dr. Edmund Cone in order to determine whether the bone was fractured.

NOTES OF WILSON'S TOUR THRU STATES

The president's train arrived at the Union station at 10:59 a. m.

A reception committee headed by Governor Cox, rushed the president's party to automobiles and the parade to Memorial hall started immediately.

His train was scheduled to leave at 1:00 o'clock for Indianapolis where he will speak this evening.

Five airplanes piloted by All-American Pathfinders here this week, left for Newark this morning to escort the president's train into Columbus.

While the president rode at the head of the parade to Memorial hall, Pathfinders dropped flowers on his party as they flew over the parade route.

Dr. Grayson, the president's physician, said his health was excellent and that he was in good physical condition for the strain of making one or two speeches a day for nearly a month.

Considerable executive business will be transacted on the trip.

HINES FUNERAL

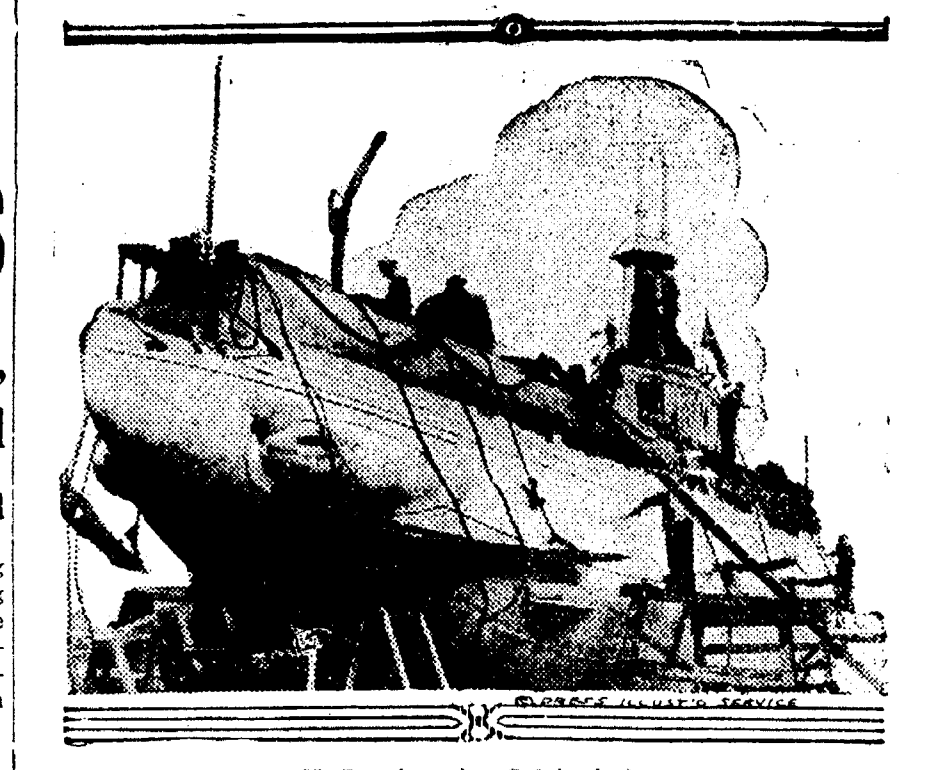

Funeral services for Mrs. Samuel Hines, whose death occurred at her home on south Tenth-st, Wednesday morning, will be held Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

The burial will be made in South Lawn cemetery.

BIRTH NOTE

The daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Dale D. Robinson has been named Betty Elise.

PRESIDENT WILSON AND PARTY GLIDE THRU CITY THURSDAY MORNING AT 9

President Woodrow Wilson passed thru Coshocton on a special train at 9:00 o'clock Thursday morning on his way from Washington to Columbus, where he delivered an address Thursday noon at Memorial hall.

The president was in the dining car when the train sped thru Coshocton. He was busily engaged and did not come to the platform or window.

HERE'S WHERE CITY KIDDIES GO TO SCHOOL

The problem of apportioning some two thousand pupils has been worked out by Supt. O. B. Clifton. The Coshocton schools open Monday.

Boundaries have been arranged and established so that this number will be distributed evenly among the various buildings. It is the desire of the superintendent that parents co-operate in the observation of these boundaries. Any minor changes that are considered necessary with reference to changing boundaries, now existing will be made later.

The boundaries:

- Eighth Grades
All eighth grade pupils go to the Central school.
- Seventh Grades
All pupils south of Orange and east of Tenth, go to Lincoln.
All pupils south of Orange and west of Tenth go to South Lawn.
All pupils north of Orange go to Central school.
- Sixth Grades
All pupils north of Orange go to the Chestnut building.
All pupils south of Orange and east of Tenth go to Lincoln.
All pupils south of Orange and west of Tenth, go to South Lawn.
- Fifth Grades
All pupils west of the Pennsylvania railroad go to Sycamore.
All north of Orange and west of Ninth, go to Chestnut.
All north of Orange and east of Ninth go to Bancroft.
All south of Orange between Tenth and Pennsylvania railroad go to South Lawn.
- Fourth Grades
All south of Orange and east of Tenth go to Lincoln.
All west of the Pennsylvania railroad go to Chestnut.

REGISTRATION OF PUPILS ON MONDAY SEP. 8

Contrary to the usual custom, enrollment of pupils of the Coshocton public schools will not take place this year on Friday preceding Monday, the opening day.

The schools will be formally opened Monday and the registry of pupils made in the morning, after which the schools will be dismissed for the balance of the day. Classes will be resumed Tuesday morning.

SOLON WARNS AGAINST THE DANGER OF A REVOLUTION

Poindexter Jabs St. Louis Business Men Who Are Opposing His Resolution

DEPLORES INACTION

Congress Considers The Wilson Plan For Parley Of Labor And Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Formal approval by congress of President Wilson's plan for an industrial conference next month was to be considered today at a joint session of the house and senate labor committees.

The Poindexter-Kelly resolution introduced in both houses several weeks ago, will be taken up and members of both committees will urge its adoption.

Senator Poindexter, replying to criticism from St. Louis business men of the plan today made public a letter declaring that some men of property "are not even aware" of the danger of revolution in the United States.

"One of the outstanding features of the present situation is the utter antipathy and blindness of those who are most interested, namely, the possessor of property, to the propaganda of revolution with which the country is seething," Poindexter stated. His letter was addressed to Edgar Gengenbach, industrial commissioner, St. Louis, Mo., chamber of commerce.

"Your idea of paying no attention to it on the part of the federal government would be very delightful if it were not for the fact that the federal government is the only agency able to cope with this revolutionary movement," Poindexter continued.

"Apparently it is necessary for the government to devise ways and means for protecting those who are not only not able to protect themselves, but who are not even aware apparently, judging from your letter of the danger which confronts them."

The chamber of commerce representative had protested to Poindexter that the federal government should let the industrial situation alone and "not further increase the concentration of action." He favored local action by each community.

DR. COHEN IS APPOINTED TO HEALTH WORK

Dr. Sam D. Cohen, Second-st, has been appointed local representative of the public health service for Coshocton-tp.

Dr. Cohen's work under his appointment will have to do with every phase of public health but with especial emphasis on the cases of returned soldiers sailors and marines. Claims for compensation must be made thru Dr. Cohen, the authorized representative of the public health service of the treasury department. Dr. Cohen maintains offices at the corner of Fourth and Main-sts.

REV. BRIDGE IS BADLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Rev. W. E. Bridge, formerly pastor of the Baptist church here was in a serious condition at his home in Cambridge Thursday as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident there Wednesday. He will recover, physicians say.

The Rev. Mr. Bridge was caught under the fall of the car as it turned turtle and was badly bruised and cut. The car was being driven by Harlan Squibb, also of Cambridge. In making a sharp turn down a steep grade the machine turned over. Mr. Squibb was injured slightly. Both will recover it is believed.

SCHOOLS SHOW STEADY GROWTH OF COSHOCTON

Enrollment in the Coshocton schools would seem to indicate that Coshocton is growing consistently, according to a statement offered by Supt. O. B. Clifton Thursday.

It is expected that the total enrollment this year will number in the neighborhood of 2300 pupils. Last year's increase over the previous year was 350 and it is expected that the increase for 1919 will amount to two or three hundred.

DENIES CARRANZA HAS RECALLED HIM

Ambassador Bonillas.

Ignacio Bonillas, Mexican ambassador to the United States, has just denied a rumor that he is to be recalled by President Carranza. He says he is optimistic regarding the future relations between Mexico and the United States. He declares the American people want no more war, and states that when they understand the situation in Mexico they will stop criticism.

WILSON'S WARNING TO OHIO AND U. S.

Declares Some Nation Is Waiting To Wage War Of Conquest, Like Germany

EXPLAINS COVENANT

Address At Columbus This Afternoon Is Heard By Capacity House

MEMORIAL HALL, COLUMBUS, Sept. 4.—A new effort at conquest will be made by some nation, as soon as the last war is recovered from unless the peace treaty including the league of nations is ratified by the United States, President Wilson told the people of Columbus today, in the first speech of his ratification campaign.

"The league of nations is the only safeguard against more wars," he asserted. Furthermore, he said, the league must be ratified by this country to make good the promise to the American soldiers who were called to fight to end all war.

Without the league, he predicted that peace would be brot into contempt.

"I'd rather have everybody on my side than be armed to the teeth," he said with regard to the league.

He said he believed he knew the real heart of the American people better than the foes of the treaty knew it.

The treaty rectified ages of wrongs in Europe Wilson stated, which had been fatal sources of war for generations.

He went into detail with regard to the racial and national lines in Europe showing how they were alter give every people its rightful tory.

The audience, which filled seat, listened for the most part silence, with occasional brief bursts of hand clapping.

Wilson made no oratorical e but explained the treaty with p taking detail, like a lecturer.

The treaty, he said, is "shot with the American principle of let the people pick the governme This brot loud cheers.

The treaty contains, among o things a Magna Charta of labor, thing unheard of until this intera year of grace.

He said that an international labor conference would be held in Washin, ten next month under this clause.

"And let me tell you," he added grimly, thrusting out his jaw, "that conference will meet next month no matter whether the treaty is ratified by that time or not."

The discovery has been made in the treaty, he said that nations are composed of their peoples, not of governments.

"There is not a single act of annexation in this treaty," he said, explaining that mandates under the league, were for protection and advancement of undeveloped peoples.

Criminal traffic is ended by the treaty, he asserted, enumerating the traffic in opium in arms, and in women and children by unscrupulous employers.

"That's the treaty," he said holding out his hands palms upward, in a gesture of revelation.

"That's the treaty, did you ever hear of it before? Were you ever told what was in it?"

"If I couldn't have brot back the kind of a treaty I brot back, I would not have come back, because I would have been an unfaithful servant."

Arguments against the treaty are based on misunderstanding, he charged.

He asked his bearers to exert every vocal influence to force acceptance of the treaty.

"And when this treaty is accepted, as it will be accepted, men in khaki will not have to cross the seas again."

Bids Opened For Water Works Coal

Bids for furnishing coal at the water works pumping station for the coming year were opened at the city building Thursday noon. Four bids were received. Henderson Bros., who have furnished the coal during the past year at $3 per ton, and W. H. Dickerson each presented a bid of $3.25 per ton. J. H. Lyons and J. H. Ricketts each bid $3.25 per ton, with the provision that in case the miners' scale is increased they should receive a corresponding increase in the price of coal. The contract will probably be awarded in a day or two.

FINANCIERS LOOK FOR BIG UPHEAVAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—A financial crisis is ahead of the country, according to leading bankers of New York which may be one of the most serious situations the country has ever faced.

The crisis seems to be little doubt in the minds of Wall Street leaders, judging from views expressed to a United Press reporter but that the crisis will take a decidedly political turn. Financiers expect the radical elements among labor leaders to make a stand for communism. While Wall Street admits that there has been a perceptible slowing down on the part of moneyed interests, bankers say they are confident of the outcome of the issue between labor and capital.

"Capital is doing some wailing and waiting," explained one vice president connected with one of the largest institutions of the country. "Many of our clients are apprehensive. Some are scared."

Many wealthy interests no longer care about making money. For example, this morning a client was here, a man who keeps a million dollars account with us. He had driven no interest, and I asked him to wait a few minutes so that we pay him what was due.

"He didn't want it. What I mean," he replied, "more money. Never mind the interest. I don't care about it. I want to get out of the country. I want to get out of the country. I want to get out of the country."

The crisis in the country is down and bankers will be on the edge of their seats.

Thompson

trary to the popular idea. The bankers point out that the public's idea of Wall Street is a small group of banks which own practically all of the securities in the country. According to financiers, Wall Street owns very few securities, and is merely an exchange for the savings banks of the country. Either the savings banks or small private investors own by far the larger part of American securities. The Pennsylvania railroad, with its one hundred thousand stockholders and the Santa Fe, with its forty thousand owners, as well as many other large corporations, are cited as examples.

SOLONS WOULD MAKE PACKERS' WITNESSES ON STAND SWEAR

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—Demand that witnesses be put under oath when testifying on bills to regulate the packers before the senate agriculture commission was made today by Senator Kenyon, Iowa, and supported by Senator Kendrick, Wyoming.

Kenyon made his request after he had introduced into the record a lot of charging that witnesses testifying against the Kenyon and Kendrick bills last week had not told the entire truth of the business connections.

I want to suggest that we have it put under oath when they come here to testify, Kenyon said, after offering the letter.

"That has been done in the past," Senator Kendrick added.

I believe it requires a special resolution by the senate, but I think we ought to ask it, Kenyon declared. The letter introduced by Kenyon referred to witnesses who appeared before the committee as independent packers.

There are no independent packers and I can prove it so far who appeared before your committee," Kendrick said. It bore the name of Mullin, Denver, and was a part of W. A. W. and Harvey.

Denver has been a packer for years. It is a packer of South America, Kendrick said.

Distillers Turn Against Saloons

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—Distillers are warring what they are going to do with the large stocks of liquor left on their hands when the nation went into its prohibition period.

They believe, according to O. H. W. then who is head of Kentucky's largest whiskey manufacturing plant, that the whiskey will come back some of these days, but even they are firm against allowing it to come back in the old way.

We don't want saloons, Wathen said today. We would have liquor take its place as a commodity, to be disposed of at the grocery or department store. We have no patience with the saloon. It got us into all our trouble. A man used to drop into a saloon, began consuming whiskey, and walk out a staggering drunk. He went home and annoyed his wife, the neighbors saw him and pitied him. The drys pointed to him as a horrible example, and whiskey took all the blame. We believe whiskey can be handled right in this country, and we are going to make a fight to that end. Abolish the saloon and let the householder buy his whiskey and take it home. That's what we want to happen, and we want to do away with the bad whiskey that made physical wrecks of people. Good whiskey won't hurt any one unless he makes a pig of himself.

Wathen estimated that there is $77,000,000 in whiskey tied up in government warehouses. The government agents hold the key to this stock, not the distillers. A great deal of it represents the capital of distillers. They want a chance to get rid of it, and are hoping that congress will in some way declare war prohibition at an end and give them a chance to sell off the accumulation.

If Congress will allow us to start in September to get rid of our stocks, said Wathen, we will come near disposing of it by the time the national prohibition law goes into effect. I think we are entitled to some consideration.

"We can't get insurance on stock unless policies had been issued before prohibition went into effect. Insurance companies fear destruction of the liquor by some fanatic, so we are facing more than merely a loss through prohibition."

confession. If a fire were to start in some of these plants it would wipe out the men who are holding the "locks". Wathen said that when the government banned the use of corn, barley and rye in the manufacture of whiskey it was with the understanding that war-time prohibition would be lifted in time to allow the dealers to dispose of their stocks. This promise, he declared, has not been kept. Asked if export business was relieving the situation any, the distiller said the effect was hardly noticeable. "They don't care for American whiskey in England, Ireland and Scotland," he said. "They prefer Irish and Scotch whiskeys. We are shipping some abroad, but not a great deal, and within a short time that avenue will be cut off. In France they prefer wines."

ermopark to look over the well known beauty and chivalry. The carriage is caught in a jam of traffic and an obviously otherwise unemployed youth slides up to the conveyance, uses all of two perfectly good matches to light the lamps of the hired hack, then presents the inevitable open palm to the fare. The only reason tourists from the good old U. S. A. come thru is because they cannot help admiring the lad's nerve, or because they are too surprised to do anything but pay.

Douglas Bryan, 50, a teamster, of Frasesburg road, was seriously injured near that village Tuesday afternoon when he fell under the rear wheel of a wagon loaded with sand. Bryan lost his balance while attempting to apply the brake, causing him to fall under the wagon.

The attending physician believes he was injured internally.

RAILWAY RETURN UP TO VOTER

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—That the present leaders in railroad development and the moneyed interests which have been backing railroads will not make a struggle to keep transportation lines from going permanently to government ownership, is evident from the attitude taken by New York chiefs of finance and railroading.

Gain Flesh By Drinking Water With Systoxem

A very easy and pleasant method for gaining flesh, vital energy and rounding out the body is now advocated by well-known authorities. Simply drink plenty of good water and take a little Systoxem after meals. This refreshing method is guaranteed to aid nature in adding healthy tissue, weight and strength to the human body in two weeks time in many instances. One well known writer on body building, etc., says "It is just like giving sunshine and water to a withering plant." The ordinary city drinking water here is considered pure and the Systoxem is now obtainable at good drug stores without a doctor's prescription. It is not being a secret preparation.

A CONVINCING TEST

Weigh yourself and note the number of pounds. Also walk about a mile and see how tired and nervous you become. Then take two regular 5-grain Systoxem tablets with a glass of ordinary drinking water after breakfast, dinner and supper for about a week. Then see what you weigh and how you feel after another long walk. Thousands of thin, nervous, run-down people are now doing this with astonishing results. Why not try it and be convinced.

Siegrist and Williams, Smiths Drug Store and other leading druggists of this city report tremendous increases in the sale of Systoxem since it became known that this compound and ordinary drinking water help the blood turn the food we eat into solid, healthy tissue, and also induce a feeling of renewed energy, strength and power of endurance.

Pesky Bed Bugs

The new chemical, P.D.Q.—'Pesky Devil'—actually puts the everlasting pesky bed bugs, roaches, ants, fleas, impossible for them to exist where P.D.Q. is used.

P.D.Q. kills and leaves a coating on their eggs and prevents hatching.

SOUR STOMACH TROUBLED HIM

TOOK EARLE'S HYPO-COD FEELS 100% BETTER

"My husband suffered from stomach trouble, bloating and belching of wind and gas after eating. Hot liquids came up in his throat and his stomach was sour and he would become bilious," declared Mrs. R. O. Conley whose name and address is given below.

"I bought some Earle's Hypo-Cod because I saw it advertised and since my husband has taken it the above troubles have disappeared and he feels 100% better and is stronger in every way. I recommend Earle's Hypo-Cod because it has helped my husband," continued Mrs. R. O. Conley 421 E. Market St., Akron, Ohio.

At this time of the year there are many suffering from stomach trouble, nervousness, are weak and lack energy and ambition. They need a good tonic and certainly no one can find a more highly recommended tonic than Earle's Hypo-Cod. It is praised by thousands. There is nothing secret about Earle's Hypo-Cod the formula is on both carton and bottle. Read it over, submit it to your physician and remember it being made by the well known Earle Chemical Company, Wheeling, W. Va., is assurance of quality and full strength. Earle's Hypo-Cod is sold by Wimmer and Arnold Co. here in Coshocton and leading druggists in all nearby towns. Price $1.20 plus 6c war tax.

manently to government ownership, is evident from the attitude taken by New York chiefs of finance and railroading.

"It is a question entirely up to the people of the country," is the way railroad executives and financiers refer to the Plumb bill, providing for government ownership of the roads. Wall-st especially would not object, if government ownership ended with the roads. However, financiers are apprehensive that once labor leaders gain the railroads, they would demand other industries and financial institutions as well.

Money invested in other industries, rather than in railroads, yields far better returns as a rule, says bankers. This may account for the fact that much of the railroad stock of the country is held elsewhere than in Wall-st.

If there is a fight to prevent the railroads from going permanently to government ownership, it must be in congress and by congress, say railroad executives, who deny that they have any plans for publicity campaigns. They say they think the railroads will be much better managed in private hands, and will give better service, but deny that it is in the interest of railroads to keep control of the roads.

"Executives are better paid and have greater opportunities in other industries," say railroad men, who explain their presence at their posts by the statement that they like their work. However, they could not work for the salaries the government would pay them.

The railroad men thru the Association of Railway executives, comprising practically all of the railroads of the country, have suggested to congress a counter proposal for government ownership.

The railroad executives' plan provides for private ownership under close government control of finance, wages, rates, and routes thru the medium of a secretary of railways, to be a member of the cabinet of the president of the United States.

Railroad executives and financiers agree with the laborers that speculation must be eliminated from railroad development and that labor must get better pay and shorter hours. However, they feel that the latter will never be accomplished with government control, due to slowing down of production, unless an annual deficit is paid by the taxpayers of the country.

La-may Face Powder Is Harmless to the Most Delicate Skin

Now you can use a pure face powder that is guaranteed not to injure the most delicate baby skin. It will not cause enlarged pores, blackheads and irritations. And, it really stays on better than any other face powder. It does not contain white lead or starchy rice powder (Poudre de Riz) to make it stick. White lead poisons the skin and rice powder turns into a gritty paste that encourages enlarged pores, blackheads and rice powder pimples. The specialist who makes this impure powder uses a medical ingredient that doctors use to heal the skin. In fact, this new powder helps to prevent and reduce enlarged pores and pimples. It is also astringent, discouraging flabbiness, crow's feet and wrinkles. Because it is pure and because it stays on so well, this La-may powder (French, Poudre L'Amie) is now used by over a million American women. The large size is only fifty cents and the trial size is twenty-five cents. Remember, La-may is guaranteed absolutely pure. Five thousand dollars reward is offered any chemist who finds it contains any white lead or rice powder. Refuse substitutes. Your common sense will tell you that when you are offered a substitute it is sure to be a demonstrator trying to sell an inferior powder that pays a big commission. When you use this absolute pure La-may and see how splendidly it beautifies your complexion, you will understand why it is so quick-acting. It became the most popular beauty powder sold in New York. Save this notice. La-may resists all also pure.

PROTECT THE DOVE.

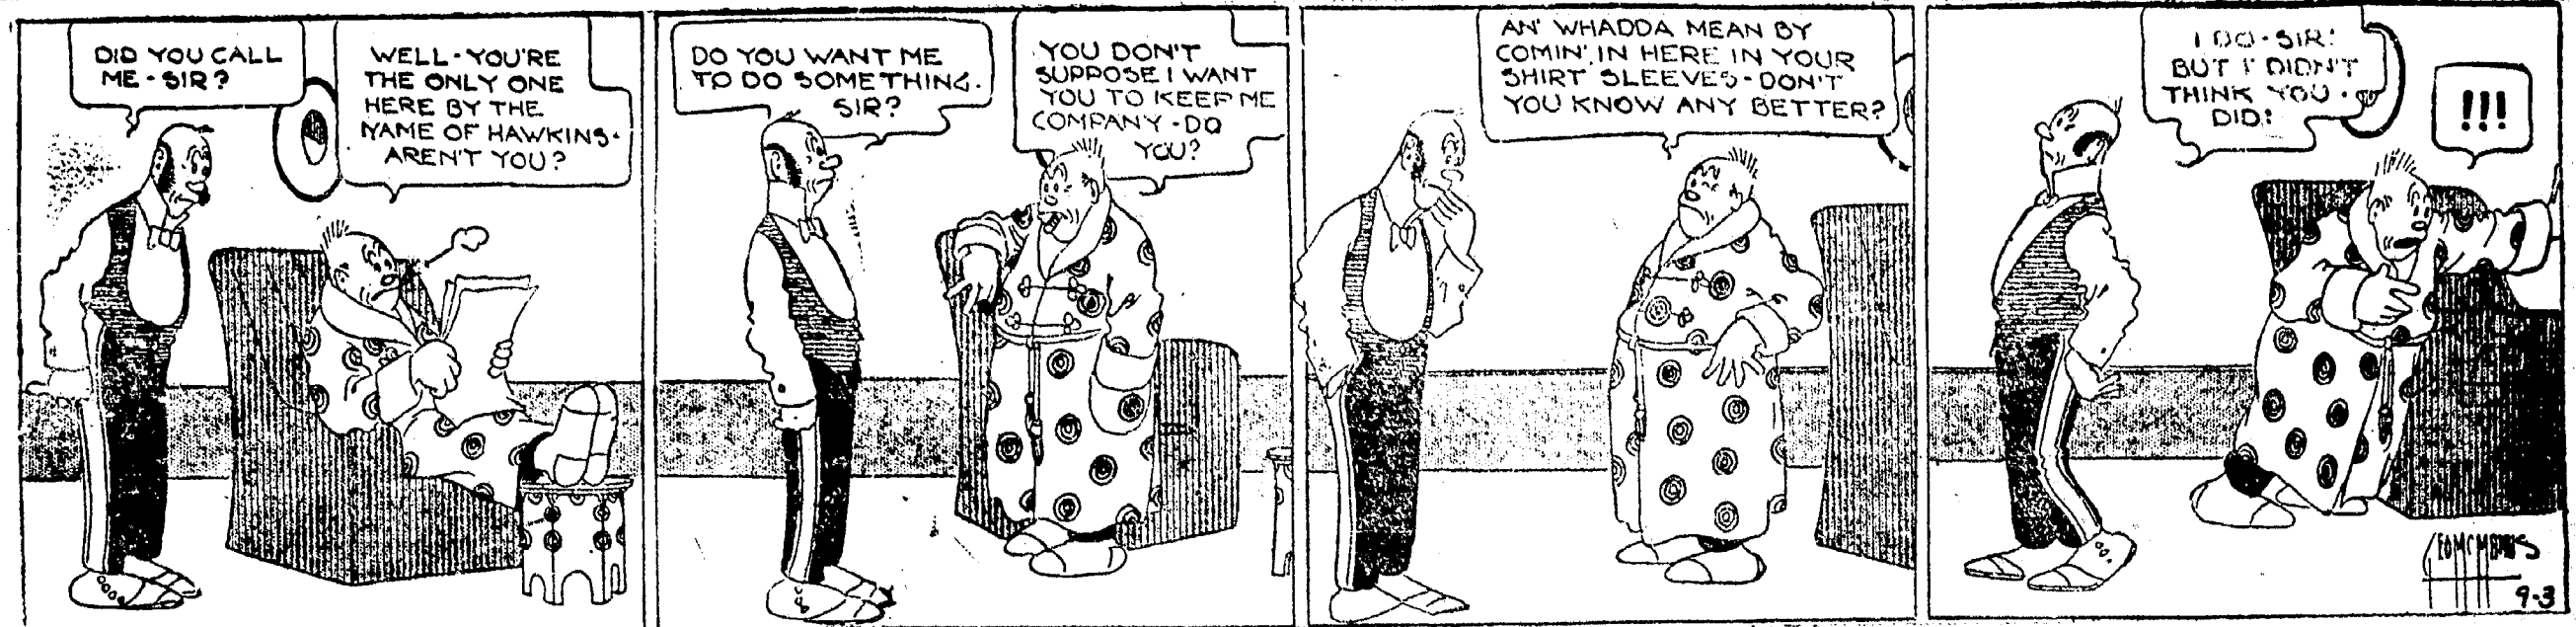

Is there anything in the federal constitution which empowers the government at Washington to break down the barriers which a state throws around its bird and animal life to protect them from the depredations of not hunters and cheap sports?

A. C. Baxter, chief of the Ohio fish and game bureau says there is. He holds that as the result of a ruling of the agricultural department at Washington, doves, which the Ohio law has heretofore protected, are now at the mercy of anyone who wishes to go out and slaughter them from now until the middle of December.

Despite Mr. Baxter we do not believe there is any such authority vested in our federal government, either express or implied. Certainly no such authority is expressed in the constitution and it takes a tremendous stretch of the imagination to find any section of the constitution which even by implication says the agricultural department at Washington or any of the other bureaucracies down there can override an express statute enacted by the General Assembly of this state giving protection to doves, quail or any other animal or bird living within our confines and depending on us to save them from extermination.

Few birds are more entitled to protection than the dove. For sentimental reasons alone we should take issue here in Ohio with the assumed authority of Washington and say that this species of bird shall have full protection within our borders. Historic associations as old as the Christian religion enshroud the dove with a certain degree of sanctity. For centuries the dove has been the emblem of peace, the token which typifies the passing of strife and bloodshed and the inauguration of an era of fraternity and love.

This may mean nothing to federal bureaucrats and pot-bellied hunters who cruelly shoot into a covey of sleeping quail and who will sit along river banks waiting for the appearance of a stately convoy of doves, too lazy to move about in quest of legitimate game. But it does mean something to the vast majority of our citizens who will gladly uphold our state law and give their moral support to game wardens who will enforce the humane state law and disregard the brutal mandates of some petty bureau chief in Washington.

LATEST IDEA OF CHAMBERLAIN, MILITARIST

A news item from the United States senate is to the effect that while preparations are being made to print Gen. Ludendorff's new book, "My Own Story," in the entire countries and, presumably in all others, the work, according to Senator Chamberlain, should and will be suppressed in this country if he can have his way about it.

This is a grotesque piece of news that could originate nowhere else than in a body constituted as is the senate at present. While we cannot vouch for its authenticity any more than regularly accredited press bureaus give it out, it is not so surprising after all when one considers its source. The printed excuse given by Senator Chamberlain for his opposition to the sale of the book is that it may "slyly instill in the American people" German viewpoints as to the war.

Mr. Chamberlain either has read the book or he has not. If he has read it himself or any part of it, why should he deny others the right to read it? Is the average American citizen so weak-minded that he must be refused access to materials which his servants, Senators and other officials, examine with impunity? If Mr. Chamberlain has not read it, how can he speak with any confidence of its effect?

One of history's great lessons on the advantages of full liberty in speaking and writing is found in German propaganda in this country from 1914 to 1917—a lesson we might have held more firmly in mind after we got into the war. If attempts had been made to suppress this propaganda, they could have had only partial success and an inevitable result would have been to inspire sympathy and render the public mind more or less receptive to the purpose aimed at. But the propaganda was allowed full swing. The outcome was that America formed a judgment adverse to Germany on Germany's own statement of its case.

Gen. Ludendorff's memoirs are

The narrative includes intensely interesting information on matters which heretofore have been a sealed book—events in the German army and the ideas and plans of the high command. It is one of the important contributions to the history of the great war.

FAVORS REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE

Coshocton, O., Sept. 3, 1919.

Editor The Tribune:

In regard to the news item appearing in tonight's Tribune concerning the filing of a petition placing me in the race for councilman from the Third ward on the Wage Earner's ticket, would say that this action was taken without my knowledge or consent. Furthermore I shall decline the honor and wish to go on record as favoring the candidacy of Owen Pegham, candidate on the Republican ticket, whom I believe to be splendidly fitted for the office.

TENER'S HOPES TO BE CARRIED OUT

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The suggestions of John K. A WOMAN'S BEAUTY Often Spoiled by a Slow-Acting Liver

Lack of Good Healthy Bile in the Liver is the Greatest Detriment to the Good Health of Both Men and Women.

Our method of combining podophyllum with the laxatives which act in harmony with it is the great discovery we have to offer you in R & G Pills for the liver and bowels.

Do not be induced to use preparations which contain calomel, violent cathartics or nerve destroying drugs which give only a temporary effect, but leave the organs in a weakened condition, and the ailments for which they were taken deeper seated than before.

People know more about medicine nowadays than herebefore and what remedies are to be extracted from their use.

Now, checked healthy women are active and full of life—their daily activities become a pleasure while those whose liver and bowels are not performing their duty are pining, yellow, shrunken, tired, headachy, circles under the eyes, bad breath, bilious and constipated. The liver is not secreting healthy bile and should be made to do so. R & G Pills, containing podophyllum, compel the liver to secrete good healthy bile, which in turn aids digestion—acts

Don't stand in your own light. Use R & G Pills—you and your doctor can rely upon their merit.

Heard it to be insubstantial, disgusting and unnecessary. Likewise he believed it a lack of sportsmanship in baseball to permit pitchers to discolored the ball or to doctor it, or deface it in any way before delivery. He fought hard against these things, but never was able to convince his club owners that the freak deliveries should be permitted.

One result of the obstinacy of those managers who had high priced pitchers on their clubs dependent on the foreign deliveries, was the victory of Eddie Cioetto over the New York Giants in the world series of 1917.

People who have a bilious, acid, bloated, constipated, and indigestible stomach should use at once R & G Pills. Doctors know that today's ailments for the liver, which are contracted in R & G Pills, do not do the best work when a bilious liver is in harmony with it. It is the liver which is simply a slow-acting bile, which is simply a slow-acting bile, which is simply a slow-acting bile.

Says His Prescription

Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Discoverer Tells Druggists Not to Take a Cent of Anyone's Money Unless All Rheumatic Pains and Twinges. Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Wimmer-Arnold Drug Co. has been appointed agent for Allen in this vicinity with the understanding that they will freely restate the purchase money to all who state they benefited from his discovery.

SOLON WARNS AGAINST BOTH RAILWAY PLANS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Government operation of railroads and unrestricted private operation are filled with "danger" Senator Lenroot, Wisconsin, warned today in a statement explaining the bill he recently introduced.

"We cannot afford to fix upon a policy which will result in the creation of a vast political machine as would the result of either the Plumb plan or any other form of government ownership," Lenroot said. "Nor can we afford to hand over to private management the transportation of the country in a manner which would enable promoters and bankers to enrich themselves. Operation of a public utility employing two million or more people by the government is too filled with danger to risk adopting that as a settled policy."

"The same can be said of government ownership and private operation."

Lenroot is for strict regulation of finances and operation of the railroad by a board composed of representatives of all interests, including the public.

SOLDIER KILLS A GIRL WHOSE LOVE IS DEAD

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Friends today believed Jeremiah Sodey's realization that his war wounds had caused his sweetheart's love for him to cease, prompted him last night to shoot her thru the heart and then fire a bullet into his own brain.

The girl was Mary Barnett, 22. She had worn Jerry's ring since before he went to war. Over there he was gassed, a shell shattered his leg and now he was a bit of war's wreck.

Last night neighbors heard Mary tell him she could not marry him now. She did not love him like she used to, she said.

Instantly there was a revolver shot and then another. Friends found them dead in an embrace.

BANKER SHOT THRU WINDOW

CONNEAUT, O., Sept. 4.—Possessed by deputy sheriffs and blood hounds were today hunting for the person who shot and probably fatally wounded G. Morton Brown, 85, banker and wealthy resident of Ashland.

Brown was shot while seated at the window of his home here shortly after midnight.

It was believed a thief is responsible. Brown was discovered unconscious in his chair by the house keeper. She did not hear the shot. It was believed a half hour elapsed between the time of the shooting and the finding of the wounded man.

Brown was hurried to a hospital. Little hope is entertained for his life.

MORE OLIVES ARE ANALYZED

CANTON, O., Sept. 4.—Six of the olives left from the LaReside Country club dinner were sent this morning by Dr. Charles Armstrong, state expert investigating the poisoning to the state department of health at Columbus, to be analyzed.

Dr. Armstrong went to Cleveland at noon to consult Dr. John G. Spenser, but will be back tonight for a conference with County Coroner T. C. McQuate.

Japan Planning Great Tunnel Under Strait

TOKYO, Sept. 4.—Officials of the imperial government railways have decided to run a submarine tunnel thru the Shimonoeki-Moji strait. The work will be started this year, and it is expected it will require nine or 10 years to complete it.

At present the railway systems of Honshu, which is the main island of the empire, and Kyushu are connected by ferry.

The cost of the tunnel, it is estimated, will be about 20,000,000 yen. Its construction will be attended by greater difficulties than in the English channel, where geological formation is simpler and better understood. Experts and workmen who will be employed on the undertaking will be sent to Europe and America to study similar engineering feats.

Wage scales and readjustments of working conditions in various ways will come up for consideration. Among other things a resolution asking nationalization of the bituminous industry, which the session will represent, probably will be introduced and adopted.

Seventeen hundred accredited delegates from all sections of the United States will be present, and in addition there will be three hundred general officers and officers of local unions. Many others also will be present. They will represent 400,000 miners of bituminous coal.

John I. Lewis, acting president, will preside in the absence of Frank J. Hayes, who is in a hospital near Indianapolis recovering from a nervous breakdown.

Will Car Shortage and Labor Trouble Produce Soft Coal Famine Next Winter?

Witnesses Before Senate Investigating Committee Assert That Prompt and Effective Co-Operation From the U. S. Railroad Administration Is Essential if Coal Problem Is to Be Solved.

ATTITUDE OF RADICALS IN LABOR RANKS ALSO IS DISCUSSED

Public Will Face Cold Winter if Miners Decide on Nation-Wide Strike and Shut Down Mines in the Bituminous Districts.

PROMPT and effective co-operation from the United States Railroad Administration, and the prevention of a nation-wide strike in the bituminous coal fields, are all that stand between the American people and a bituminous coal famine next winter, according to testimony presented by officers of the National Coal Association to the United States Senate sub-committee which is conducting an inquiry into the coal situation.

Declaring that the American people were entitled to all the facts in the case Mr. Harry N. Taylor, of Kansas City, President of the National Coal Association, told Senator Frelinghuysen, Chairman of the Committee, that there are three distinct factors controlling the successful operation of coal mines and the successful serving of the public interests.

"These factors," said Mr. Taylor, "are the consumer, the producer and the transporter. If any one of those three fail the other two are helpless. If the consumer wants the coal and the producer can produce it and there are no cars to move it, the other two are helpless. If there are plenty of cars and plenty of coal and the consumer will not place his orders, the transporter and the producer are helpless—and so on. Any one of them failing in his share of the work renders the other two helpless."

"In the early summer months of this year the one that failed was the consumer. I attribute that largely to the fact that for two years the government and the coal operators, in their effort to assist the government, had intensified their demand upon the public to store coal. The press was full of the necessity for winning the war, and amplified the importance of the movement of coal during the entire twelve months of the year, if we were allowed to produce enough coal to win the war. They laid stress on that. In pre-war times, when there was no particular incentive, it was often the practice of the consumer to wait until he really needed coal, and if the railroads had plenty of cars and if the operators had plenty of labor at their mines everything was all right. There would be a rush at the last minute and there would be a rush to buy coal in the fall that would keep the operators and the transporters working at top speed."

"So, through the Fuel Administration, that condition of affairs was made known to the public and the production during the war time was made almost continuous. The ultimate consumer either stored his coal in the factory yard or in basements of the home users and the railroads stored a large amount of coal, so that the production of these years was practically only limited by the transportation and the ability to get it through the congested centers. After two years of practically hounding the people to buy coal, when the armistice was signed there was a relaxation on the part of the consuming public which was reflected in their lack of buying, and the Geological Survey figures distinctly showed that the production was falling off. By the first of June there had been a less production in this country, as compared with the year previous, of about seventy million tons, and it became evident to the coal industry that unless something was done to make-up in part that large shortage of production it would so congest the business in a few months that it would be impossible for the railroads to move the coal, especially as they would probably be called upon to do so about the same time that there would be asked to move the largest food crops ever produced in this country."

Situation Can Be Saved.

Questioned by Senator Frelinghuysen as to what would have to be done to prevent a bituminous coal famine this winter Mr. Taylor said that the operators would have to produce at the rate of a little over eleven million tons a week during the remainder of the year.

"If we get busy right away can we save the situation in time?" demanded Senator Frelinghuysen.

"Absolutely we can," said Mr. Taylor. This confidence on his part was shared in by all the witnesses who appeared before the Senate sub-committee during the first day of the coal hearing. But all agreed with him that it would take the most intelligent kind of co-operation on the part of the Railroad Administration and an immediate reduction of the car shortage that is holding up production at the mines to save that part of the public which has delayed in buying its coal from suffering from the cold this winter. All agreed, too, that if the radical element which is attempting to stir up trouble among the organized bituminous coal miners of the country succeeds in calling a general strike this fall or winter the result would be calamitous.

Miners to Meet.

The bituminous miners have called a convention in September at Cleveland and according to Mr. Taylor they plan to formulate demands there similar to the demands made by the English miners on the English coal operators. According to the proposed demands the present contract for an eight hour day should be cut down to a six hour day and instead of working six days a week they intend only to work five days a week. A substantial increase in the present wage will also be included in the demands.

In compliance with a request from the Committee concerning the present wages paid to the coal miners of this country, Mr. Taylor said that the day wage scale paid to the man who drives a mine is practically uniform all over the country and that the men who work by the day, who are known around the coal mines as "day men," get a fixed rate per day of eight hours.

"The miner, however," said Mr. Taylor, "gets a fixed number of cents per ton for producing the coal at his working place, and that naturally varies in accordance with his ability and according to the thickness of the seam. That is, in the thickest seams where he can get down more coal with less endeavor he gets paid a less number of cents per ton, and in the thinner seams the rate per ton is higher, because the endeavor to get the coal is greater. These men are supposed to work eight hours a day, the same as the 'day men' work, but frequently it is almost impossible to keep a man working eight hours. In fact, I would say, that the miners do not work eight hours regularly because they regulate their own earnings on what they produce."

The Wage Scale.

"What do the miners make on an average?" asked Senator Myers of Montana.

"Well," said Mr. Taylor, "as the seams range up their wages range up. There are some miners that make as much as fifteen dollars a day and there are other miners that make as low as five dollars a day because they are the type that could not make any more money in a mine digging coal than they could picking slate off a car, and they get five dollars a day doing that."

In response to a question concerning the nationality of the men employed in the mines Mr. Taylor said:

"That varies in different sections of the country. We have almost all nationalities. There are a great many Italians, Austrians, Slovaks, Lithuanians, English and Scotch."

"Are any of them what you would call distinctively American, without a hyphen?" asked Senator Frelinghuysen.

"Yes," answered Mr. Taylor, "and I want to say this—that some of the brainiest and most upright men I have ever known were coal miners—men of the best American instincts. In fact, the great majority of the coal miners are American citizens."

Further quizzing by the committee brought out the fact that a number of the aliens employed in the mines are now returning to their native countries.

Operators' Troubles.

Asked by the committee as to whether the combination of car shortage and possible labor troubles would produce an advance in the price of coal this winter, Mr. Taylor said:

"We were confronted in the coal business with this condition. The miners' organization is entirely exempt from the Sherman law, and can get together and make any demand on the operators they want after consulting with each other in different parts of the country. They can formulate a demand based on their own ideas, absolutely backed up by their organization, which is nation-wide and international in scope, and they can have those conferences and make their demands without any infringement of the law. Therefore, the coal operator of this country is confronted with a combination of labor which is not in any way controlled, and without infringement of the law can get together and formulate a collective demand upon the operator which forces up his cost both in price and in the conditions under which the men are employed."

"On the other hand, we are confronted by a combination in the form of a Railroad Administration, a buying combination, which does all the buying for the railroad which was formerly in the hands of local purchasing agents scattered all over the country. This purchasing power is now in a centralized body in the hands of one man, and as the railroads use practically thirty per cent of all the bituminous coal mined in this country, the coal operator scattered as he is, is confronted with the most harassing condition and combination of conditions that it would be possible to confront him with."

Costs Forced Up.

"Labor can force up his cost price almost indefinitely, and on the other hand the combination of the Railroad Administration can force his selling price down almost indefinitely, at least so far as the price of the coal sold to the railroads is concerned. I am going to be very frank in saying that it is not right for such a large percentage of our coal to be forced down to cost or below cost by a centralized buying power so that the entire profit of the industry should be put upon that part of the country that can least afford to pay an extra price. And yet if we do not get an extra price the industry carries no profit whatever and would soon shut down."

"If the coal man could direct his own business he would much prefer to have his coal run in an evenly distributed manner during the twelve months of the year at a very low reasonable profit than he would to have it run six or seven months in the year at no profit, and then have a peak load at profit which leads to the hoards and condemnation of the coal industry which we have in the fall and winter."

Constructive Suggestions.

Questioned as to whether he had any constructive suggestions to make that would tend to produce a fair arrangement of prices and one that would not permit the government to get cheap coal at the expense of the small consumer, Mr. Taylor said:

"As matters now stand there is always a time every summer when the railroads' sidetracks are full of empty coal cars, when others are lying idle and the men who make their living in the mines are out of employment because the mines have no orders for their product. The railroads used as I said before, practically thirty per cent of the bituminous output. When there is no business in the mines, they naturally have no business for their coal cars or that class of equipment that is peculiar to the coal business. If the railroads could arrange to take their coal supply at the time of the year when their equipment is idle, and when the mines are idle, they would accomplish three very important things."

"In the first place they would get their supply of coal into storage. They would use that idle equipment and would keep the men at the mines employed and would relieve the labor unrest. As it is now, the men are thrown into a period of idleness for three, or four, or five months every year. If their employment could be more regular it would not be so necessary to make demands for higher rates per ton in an effort to get a whole year's living out of a few months activity. In other words, the more regular employment would largely solve the labor unrest. It would use the idle equipment that is doing nothing but lying on a side track. It would bring the coal in at a time of the year when it was possible to dig it and it would relieve the equipment for the use of the public in the fall and winter time when the public so badly needs coal. An equal distribution of the coal over twelve months instead of over six months would have a tendency to lower prices and make less labor unrest. It would also make better use of railroad equipment and would stabilize the industry all along."

The Real Problem.

Mr. J. D. A. Morrow, Vice President of the National Coal Association, who preceded Mr. Taylor before the committee, said that the essential problem, as the operators see it, is that of getting enough coal produced.

"However," he added, "there is a general idea in the mind of the public which has been advanced by people, who, perhaps, feel that they are well informed, that there is some kind of combination in the bituminous coal industry. We went to state fairly and emphatically that there is no combination to maintain prices or to restrict production, or in any other way to interfere with the natural influences upon the conditions in the production and marketing of bituminous coal. We go further and say that the conditions in the business are such that it would be impossible for anybody to form such a combination even if he would try."

"There are about 5,000 separate commercial producers operating approximately 7,000 mines, from which bituminous coal is regularly shipped.

In addition there are some 2,000 operators with about 3,000 mines, who begin producing and selling coal whenever the price goes up a little and offers a profit to them. Thus in 1917 coal production was reported to the U. S. Geological Survey from 100,634 mines. Moreover, there are hundreds of thousands of acres of coal lands along railroads on which new mines can be readily and quickly opened by any one so disposed. Such a condition obviously does not lend itself to restrictive combination among producers. In addition the operators of each mining field are subject to competition from the producers of other fields, so that buyers have many different sources of supply available to them."

"Of the 5,000 separate bituminous coal producers in the United States, 2,294, approximately 45 per cent, hold membership in the National Coal Association. They produce about 60 per cent of the total output of bituminous coal in the country."

No Price Combination.

"Charges that the National Coal Association is a combination to maintain prices and without foundation in fact; they doubtless proceed simply from ignorance of its purposes and activities."

"The National Coal Association represents these operators and looks after their interests in matters of general concern, such as transportation and traffic questions, standardization of cost accounting, co-operation with Governmental agencies and similar activities. There is nothing secret about its business. Its files and records are open to the Committee or any other duly authorized agency of the Government at any time."

"The National Coal Association neither buys nor sells coal; neither does it have anything whatever to do with the prices which its members ask or sell at, nor with the territory into which they ship their coal, nor the quantity which they produce."

Mr. Morrow stated that bituminous coal prices have declined since the armistice, and in general are lower than the prices fixed by the United States Fuel Administration. He pointed out to the Committee that until February 1 last, the price of bituminous coal was controlled by the maximum price fixed by the Fuel Administration in the various producing districts.

"These Fuel Administration prices were intended to prevent the clearing of undue prices for bituminous coal and to limit the profits which the mine operators might make," he said. "At the same time they included fair profits in order that the production of sufficient coal should be stimulated during the war, but they did not permit exorbitant profits. The Fuel Administration prices, however, did not take quality of coal into consideration. That is, the Fuel Administration did not give higher prices to the coal producers of any district merely because the coal was of better quality than the coal produced in some adjacent mining field. Poor coals and good coals, if their cost of production were the same, were treated alike, we understand, in fixing the Fuel Administration prices."

Buyers Fix Prices.

Mr. Morrow submitted charts to the Committee graphically showing the prices which bituminous coal sold at the mines in different districts of the United States from April 1 to August 1, 1919. In connection with these charts, Mr. Morrow explained that when the price restrictions of the Fuel Administration were removed on February 1, 1919, the better, more desirable coals went to a premium in the open competitive market and the less desirable coals declined in price. He stated that this was the action to be expected in a market where the buyer exercises his choice and can obtain the kind he prefers. As a result instead of the uniform prices in different districts, which were fixed by the U. S. Fuel Administration, prices promptly spread out, some coal going higher and some lower than they had been.

The charts submitted to the Committee showed that in districts producing high quality coals, such as Pittsburgh, Southern Illinois, the Harlan Field of Kentucky, etc., prices had remained at about the level set by the Fuel Administration, or had advanced a few cents above that level. In most districts, however, such as Central Pennsylvania, Northwest Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio, Central Illinois, the Hazard field of Kentucky, Northern West Virginia, etc., Mr. Morrow said, coals of lower grade are produced. In such districts, prices declined from 10 cents to 40 cents per ton below the prices which prevailed under the U. S. Fuel Administration.

Cost Increases.

"Meaning," Mr. Morrow said, "the cost of producing bituminous coal is higher now than it was a year ago, due to the fact that the mines then were operating six days a week and in many cases are now operating only four days per week and some cases only three days a week. The overhead expense of maintaining mines goes on at the same whether coal is produced or not. These idle day expenses have resulted in increased costs per ton, as compared with last year. When these increased costs are considered in connection with the general decrease in prices, it is clear that profits of bituminous coal operators are materially less than a year ago."

Mr. Morrow drew comparisons between the prices of bituminous coals at the mines in the United States and foreign countries. "Prices at the mines in Great Britain," he said, "are about three times the mine prices prevalent in the United States; in France the mine prices are more than three and a half times those of the United States. English mine prices range from $.94 to $7.14 per ton, while bituminous coal in France is costing about $8.76 per ton at the mines. The average mine price of bituminous coal sold in the United States is in the neighborhood of $2.40 per ton."

Effect of Car Shortage.

The effect of car shortage upon coal production was testified to by John Callahan, Traffic Manager of the National Coal Association. "Car shortages caused the coal mines to fail to produce 5,900,000 tons of coal during the weeks ending August 2 and August 9," Mr. Callahan said. "This is sufficient coal to supply the requirements of the state of New Jersey for ten months."

"The difficulty today is a transportation deficiency and not a car shortage alone. Coal is one of the few commodities which can not wait on transportation. It is physically impossible in many instances, to bring coal to the surface of the earth and store it for the reason that the pit mouth is on the side of a mountain or hill."

"Moreover, the proper place to store coal is at the point of consumption, where it will be available when required for use. Railroad cars must be ready when the coal is brought out of the ground. This is absolutely essential.

"Many mines are idle today on account of no cars. Two hundred and eighty-five mines were idle because of car shortage in one West Virginia district during the week ending July 26. This was before the shop men's strike. Ninety-seven mines in this district failed to go to work in one day while many others only worked part time that day."

"The total bituminous coal lost through lack of railroad cars at the mines from the week ending June 7 to the week ending August 9, inclusive, was 13,251,702 tons, distributed by weeks as follows: June 7, 888,996; June 14, 655,190; June 21, 936,662; June 28, 644,149; July 5, 285,485; July 12, 428,359; July 19, 1,146,075; July 26, 1,764,264; August 2, 2,311,402; August 9, 3,531,180. This means 245,000 cars, or 7,000 train loads. This is more than six months' supply for short-hauling. Northern England states; and this loss occurred in ten vessels only."

Car Shortage Increases.

"Since July 12, this shortage has been increased by leaps and bounds. These figures are based on the United States Geological Survey reports, which indicate that whereas for the week ending July 19, where Director General Hines chose to close his recent report to the Senate, the loss on account of car shortage was 7.4 per cent of full time output, the loss on August 8, was 22.5 per cent, this in the face of statements by the Railroad Administration to the effect that conditions are not now abnormal. In other words, the loss because of no cars at mines has trebled in three weeks, and is now on a parity with the ordinary shortage. Northern England states; and this loss occurred in ten vessels only."

"The Director General points out in his report, that 37,000 new cars have been built, of which 17,000 have been put in service. If all of the 37,000 cars had been in service during the week of August 8, there would still be a shortage of 34,000 cars during the one week alone; but these cars are not yet in service and they are going into service very slowly."

Concerning the number of cars now in the repair shop, Mr. Callahan said:

"There are, proportionately more coal cars in bad order today than closed cars. Of a total of 1,183,490 closed cars, 95,928 or 8.1 per cent were in bad order on July 12, as compared with 98,139 bad order coal cars, out of a total of such cars of 974,547 or 10.1 per cent coal cars in bad order. Repairs to coal cars are being neglected through preference to other cars. Moreover a figure of 10 per cent of coal car ownership in shop is abnormal. There should not be to exceed 5 per cent of the total number of coal cars in shop under ordinary good railroad management."

"The country is full of bad order cars. They impede the movement of freight through railroad yards in certain districts and are backing up the current of traffic."

"Moreover 8 to 10 per cent of the 62,000 locomotives owned by the railroads under Federal control are now in the shop for classified repairs. These 5,000 or more engines, according to indications, will be needed quite early this winter. They could be used now in avoiding blocking coal mines with loaded cars. If these engines are not repaired at once, they may, when required for use, be in just the same condition so many cars are in today."

DYES IN PROFUSION

If you are dying to be chic
Here's what you'll have to do
Just get some lace to make a frock
And then let it dye too.

By MARGARET ROHE
(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—That immortal phrase of Barnaby Rudge's raven "Never say die," would make little hit nowadays in the fashionable world. This season everyone's saying "die" instead. "You simply must dye" at least when it is a question of lace.

Not only the lovely lace net and shadow lace gowns and frocks are popular in black but the all lace gown in pastel shades and even vivid tints are the last gasp of a dying season and a dying fashion.

Even the real laces of hand made lineage have not escaped the dyes. Dire pot and filet, cluny and orchoa insets on frocks of linen, taffeta and crepe de chine are all dyed up to match exactly their accompanying material.

Indeed the combining of linen lace with a silken fabric such as crepe de chine or taffeta is one of the latest Paris fads and when the lace does not exactly match the gown shade in hue it is done in a most striking contrasting tone.

For example a favorite combination of color is a Natter blue taffeta trimmed in bands of heavy pink velvet low lace.

An all crepe taffeta with grey fillet is a charming effect that needs no silver lining but which wholly on a flesh toned satin one instead.

In the all over lace and lace and net frocks of fluff, pearl ruffled skirts and flowing elbow sleeves or else also the elbow are ones sort of 275 per cent crepe the lace dye shade the shadow lace to a veritable shadowy hue. A lovely orchid dye makes old lace and lavender one and the same and is one of the most exquisitely lovely colorings for these dyed lace gowns.

Oyster white, café au lait biscuit, apricot, peach citron and almond are all delicious tints that appeal to fashion's fabled sartorial appetite as delectable hues for lace frocks. These neutral tones and pastel shades are usually relieved with a vivid streak of contrasting color in the form of a narrow pleated edged ribbon knotted with flowing ends about the waist.

These dangling ends of narrow ribbons are by no means the end of such and low velvet for example to have no end of ends again in a return of time even more violent than on just at lack of it. We are to be all fringed about with fringe. Entire gowns made of narrow ribbon knotted over satin slips have the end held in hand only a few inches and held and then the floating end is a free and untrammelled form to extend and sweep.

The fringe does not consist of knotted silk fringe, as is usually a bit of ruffling of black fringe over a white satin slip or vice versa.

They are strictly to the lace and seem to call only for a suitable or poor.

A close coat in a figure is the trend much to lament of old. But of the taffeta ruffled on, and edge and gathered through the middle. Like a fringe makes a trimming of until the favorite pattern for drapings but for here, our best.

So be not afraid to let it all and find it is a sure winner in fashion.

Japan Improves Plan For Training Armies

TOKYO, Sept. 4.—Lieutenant General Tanaka, minister of war, is carrying out various plans of improvement of technical practices of military service. The authorities have decided to raise the status of the military academy and engineering school and rename it the Military Technical University. This with the Military University which is an institution for officers in active service, principally dealing with tactics, will be the high military training establishment in the empire.

The Military Artillery and Infantry training school has so far been confined to the artillery and engineering courses, but when extended into a technical university students selected from among those serving in any branch of the army in infantry, cavalry, artillery, engineer and commissariat will be admitted and taught the technical side of military matters. The new system will be adopted whereby the students of science or engineering in the imperial universities who are to do service in the army in the future will be given school expenses by the military authorities.

Paid $100 A Day For Pruning Apple Trees

The increased yield of fruit from his apple trees paid W. A. Knight of Athens, Lawrence County, $100 a day for pruning for pruning 10 rows of trees in his orchard. The work was done by a demonstration in cooperation with the Lawrence County Farm Bureau and the Agricultural College Extension Service. The trees on the 10 p and rows will bear 800 barrels of apples. Twenty-nine rows adjoining the pruned part are carrying at the present time an estimated crop of 1,200 barrels.

At current apple prices Mr. Knight figures that had he been able to prune the entire orchard consisting of 1,200 trees, the crop would have been worth $5,000 more to him than if no pruning was done. He also reports that the pruned trees were sprayed with much greater ease than those receiving no pruning and that he used surprisingly less spray material. The fruit now ripening on the pruned trees is of much greater size and promises to be of better color and quality than that grown on the unpruned trees.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS AND BIDDERS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education of the West Carlisle Rural School District at the regular place of meeting of such board of education until 12 o'clock noon, central standard time, the 6th day of September, 1919.

The above proposals shall be for furnishing the necessary labor and material, for the erection and completion of a three room school building in accordance with the plans and specifications on file with the clerk of said board of education, Mr. Frank C. Welling, West Carlisle, Ohio. Such plans are on file for the purpose of public inspection at any time during ordinary business hours until the date of receiving bids.

Upon application to the clerk of the board of education, plans and specifications will be furnished to bidders under conditions to be stipulated by the clerk.

Bids will be received as follows:

Bids for labor and material must be separately stated.

Bids will be received for the general construction of the entire work according to law, including heating and ventilating.

Separate bids will be received for the heating and ventilating.

The Board reserves the right to accept separate bids for complete bids, or reject any or all bids in accordance with the laws of the state of Ohio.

Each bid must be accompanied with a sufficient security satisfactory to the board, to the amount of five percent (5%) of the total amount in the bid, as a guarantee that if successful, the contractor submitting the bid will enter into a contract immediately and begin actual work within a reasonable time from the date of signing contract.

Should any bid be rejected, surety will be returned forthwith to the bidder. The surety of the successful bidder will be returned upon proper execution of the contract and bond. The successful bidder for any part of the work shall furnish the board with a satisfactory bond, which bond must be approved by the attorney for the Board of Education. This bond shall be equal to fifty percent (50%) of the contract

BAPTIST PASTOR
ASSUMES DUTIES
AT LOCAL CHURCH

The Rev. W. M. Hart, of Portsmouth
Ohio, who has accepted a call to the pastorage of the First Baptist church of Coshocton arrived here Wednesday and conducted the prayer service at the church Wednesday evening. He will preach his first sermon here Sunday morning.

The Rev. Mr. Hart's family is at present visiting relatives at Blocher, Indiana, and will come here in the near future to make their home on Orchard-st. Helen, the only child, will enter the public schools here Monday. She is 13 years of age.

RESTORATION OF TARKHILL SCHOOL IS CONSIDERED

Restoration of the Tarkhill school in Jefferson-st was being considered by the county school board Thursday as the result of a request by the people of that vicinity that the school be reopened this fall.

Under recent laws which require that schools must show an enrollment of at least 10 pupils, the board ordered the school closed since its average enrollment was only eight. The residents of that neighborhood believe that they will be able to show an average enrollment of 10 or more pupils for this year and have asked that the school be reinstated.

HORNETS BREAK
CAMP THURSDAY

Members of the Hornets Meet
Camping club returned home Thursday after their annual outing at the old lamp black works on the Cassing-ham farm above Walhonding. They were in camp this year about three weeks.

ANOTHER ROAD CLOSED
The Coshocton-West Lafayette road from Morgan Run to West Lafayette was closed Thursday and will remain closed for one month.

Work on the road will be completed within that time is the belief of County Surveyor Ross E. Hamilton.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Lewis Selders, president of the local union, Journeymen Barbers International union will leave Sunday for Buffalo, N. Y., to attend the national convention at that place.

Mr. Selders goes as a delegate from the union here. The convention will last for about one week and will be held in the Broadway auditorium.

RESTURANT ROBBED

Police Thursday were working on clues that may lead to the arrest and conviction of thieves who burglarized

the Liberty restaurant, Main-st.

Entrance, it is believed, was effected thru the rear of the room. The thieves made away with about $6 in change.

EXAMINATION TONIGHT

A civil service examination is to be held at the city hall this evening at 7 o'clock for all grades of the fire department.

CANTON—City's milk supply is greatly increased as a result of the contest between shipper and buyers in Cleveland.

FINED FOR MISCONDUCT

James Sykes, Wilson-st, was brot before Mayor Richardson Wednesday night on the charge of disorderly conduct. He was fined $5 and costs.
Sykes is alleged to have objected to the conduct of his neighbors, who reported the matter to the police. He asked the mayor that they be prohibited from visiting at his home.

MOVING NOTE

Thomas Haley and family, Newcomerstown, will move to Coshocton in the near future.

100 Men's Winter Overcoats

At Last Year's Prices

FOLLOWING out our policy of doing everything possible to keep prices down, we have decided to place on sale Saturday all men's and young men's overcoats carried over from last Winter, at the prices at which they were marked at that time.

This decision on our part means that by buying your Winter overcoat now, before the cold weather starts, you will be able to save from 15 to 20 percent. Overcoats this year are considerably higher in price than they were last year. By buying now you will save the difference.

Last Winter being mild, there was little sale for overcoats. Consequently we carried over many good coats. Rather than mark these up to the new market price, we are making it possible for you to save money by selling them at the old price.
There are all styles of coats from light-weight short ones to heavy ulsters. The sizes range from 34 to 44, and the prices start at $15 and run gradually upward to $40.00.

By making a small deposit at the time of selection
we will gladly store your coat for you until Nov. 1.
